Comments

Undecorated pipe bowl with length of stem

Lead pipe; late 18th to 19th century

Griffin facing left - See Oxo 1969:41

Studded circle design (same as Emden 1969 no 5).

Short cross of Henry II; moneyer Osber, unknown mint

Find specialist

Cobble? Uncertain date or use

Probable buckle plate for a small buckle, leather surviving - needs conserving

Pig metatarsal toggle

Dress or brooch pin of later medieval to post medieval date, c. 1400-1700.

Voided long cross, probably of Henry III (although could be Edward I from 1272-1279). Reverse too worn for mint/moneyer

Unidentified copper alloy fragment

Probable spindle whorl (or possibly a weight?) of medieval date, however it is light for such and object; size of hole suggests this ID, rather than a bead

Tweezers with ear-scoop terminal, pattering to seam (to aid joining)

Bone tuning peg for an instrument such as a psaltery

Brill/Boarstall jug, 13th C? ASK MAUREEN MELLOR

14th century nail? Ask Leigh Allen at OA

Pipe bowl with part of stem

Undecorated pipe bowl

William Page & Co (Founded c.1890). Electro-plated. Birmingham.

Dress or 'shroud' pin, drawn wire shaft with a wound-wire head. Egan and Pritchard Dress Accessories pp 300-302

Possible fleur-de-lys in border design, not directly paralleled but similar to Eames 1985 fig 75, dated to c. second quarter of 14th C larger stem and bore suggests earlier date

Pipe bowl with part of stem

Retaining quarter of a window came, with green glass. Later 13th C for domestic dwellings, slightly earlier for ecclesiastical

Gilded pewter bell fragment, rim chart = 6cm diameter

Studded circle design (probably same as Emden 1969 no 5).

Unidentified pattern, fabric as majority (red with grey core)

194 sals med cat from Old Deanery, Salisbury Saunders, P & E, (eds)., 1991. Salisbury Museum Medieval Catalogue Part 1. p136 fig 42

Probably Emden 1696 no. 20 - Dorchester, Godstow, King Edward Street, Oxford

Unidentified pattern - 'stabbed wessex' - grey tile

Scrolled fleuretty designs - no direct parallel in available literature

Green glazed wall tile fragment? Late medieval? Uncertain - ask MAUREEN MELLOR?

Possibly a button or fixing with back-plate.

Brill / Boarstall ware bottle ASK MAUREEN MELLOR

Griffin facing left (blundered beak)

Unidentified pattern - 'stabbed Wessex' - grey tile

Unidentified pattern - 'stabbed Wessex'

Tombac' button

Dress or 'shroud' pin, applied wire head. Med - PM

Marker's initials on stem - moulded (later 17th C innovation)

Lathe turned bone button; lathe turned decoration of circumferential lines visible under eyeglass

Copper alloy fragment with multiple lines cast into it
